Candler Building will Be New Alumnae Center

The Candler building, former library, is to be renovated for use as an Alumnae Center. Approval to proceed at once was given at the recent meeting of the Board of Trustees. This action represents the fulfillment of a dream long cherished by many alumnae.

Upon completion of the renovation next year the entire second floor will be given over to alumnae activities. Mrs. Frances Van Horn, Alumnae Director; Mrs. Helen Booth, her secretary; and Mrs. Freda K. Nadler, Alumnae Editor, will have their offices in this building. The ground floor will be used for seminars and meetings by the entire College as well as the surrounding community. The Office of Information Services will also be located there.

The large oval reading room of "the most beautiful building on the campus" is to house a collection of Wesleyana, to be known as the Heritage Room. Many items donated over the years by alumnae and friends will be displayed here. New gifts are being received by the Alumnae Office since the Trustee's action.

The Wesleyan Alumnae Association has presented $60,000 toward the renovation, given over three decades toward an alumnae center.

Architectural plans have been completed by Dennis and Dennis, Macon, to include a kitchen, a new stairway at the rear of the building to meet safety requirements, air conditioning, a kitchen, and installation of an elevator.

Working with the Building Committee of the Trustees are Mrs. Mc-

Launch Phase II of Capital Funds Campaign

The Wesleyan College Board of Trustees at their October meeting approved launching a second phase of a capital gifts campaign. Randolph W. Thrower of Atlanta, Board Chairman, was elected National Chairman of the fund-raising drive. Trustees Leo B. Huckabee, Jr., of Macon, and Rufus K. Green, of Atlanta, were elected chairmen of the campaigns to be conducted in their respective areas.

In Phase I of the Campaign, which ended this year, a total of $2.25 million was raised on a campaign goal of $1.5 million.

Accepting the over-all chairmanship, Mr. Thrower stated that Wesleyan is going into this second phase with enthusiasm and confidence that will exceed the Phase I effort. Pointing out that the goal of the campaign will not be set until the preliminary plans are completed, he said, "All funds that come in will be used to increase the endowment and provide for certain plant improvements."

President W. Earl Strickland, expressing his appreciation for the support given by all of Wesleyan's constituency, stated that all indications pointed toward a successful campaign. "We plan to launch the Macon effort in January and continue in Atlanta during March." He also said

Kibben Lane, Jr., Mrs. Ernest Corn, Mrs. Wilbur Tucker, and Mrs. Fred Manget. Another alumna, Mrs. Julian Hightower, serves on the Finance Committee. Appointed to the Building Committee are William Simmons, chairman, Tom Greene, Alumna Ann Maria Domingos, and Ann Thornton, president of Student Government.

Four gifts, totalling approximately $3/4 million were announced by Campaign Chairman Randolph Thrower at the Sponsors' Dinner Tuesday night, Dec. 5, in the Anderson Dining Room, setting in motion Phase II of Wesleyan's Capital Funds Campaign.

Advance gifts included half a million, $43,000, $200,000, $3,000, and $5,000, also $60,000 given by the Wesleyan Alumnae Assn. toward renovation of the Candler building into an Alumnae Center.

Some 200 friends of the College attended the dinner, heard President Strickland speak on the needs of the College. The Wesleyannes sang.

that the Development Office staff would conduct follow-on campaigns in key cities throughout Georgia and Florida, beginning in the fall of 1973 and extending through 1974.

"The support of all of Wesleyan's constituency—administration, faculty, students, alumnae, parents and friends will be needed if we are to achieve the same degree of success as was obtained in the initial campaign."

Mrs. Bonnie Woody, for four years manager of the Development office, has been named Assistant Director of Development. Also in the office are Mrs. Barbara Myers and Mrs. Jonnell Odom, with Robert Wys serving as Director of Development. Charles Wolfe, from Marts and Lundy, New York, is on campus as professional consultant during the intensive period of Phase II of the Capital Funds Campaign.

Stricklands with Editor

Greetings from China

When Don Carter, executive editor of the Macon TELEGRAPH AND NEWS, returned from the People's Republic of China, which he visited this fall with a group of newspapermen, he brought back gifts for President Strickland and for the alumnae of Wesleyan. Because of her illness he was unable to see the donor, Soong Ching Ling (Mrs. Sun Yat Sen), vice chairman of the PRC and widow of its first president.

As Ching Ling, this famous lady was graduated from Wesleyan in 1913. Little had been heard from her for years until Freda K. Nadler, editor of Wesleyan College NOW, wrote to her in May of this year, telling her she had applied for a visa to the PRC and sending her materials from the college.

"I welcome your opening sentence, 'Greetings from Wesleyan College' and echo it with 'Greetings to Wesleyan College' ", wrote the alumna from Peking. She continued, "Whenever you come, perhaps other Wesleyan alumnae too, you will have a fascinating experience in getting acquainted with our reborn country and people expressed by the positive developments in every aspect of life. Indeed, the Chinese people are deeply engrossed in contributing their best to the building of a genuine socialist society, whether it be in industry, agriculture, education, science, technology, medicine, or through culture, art, literature and political activity.

"Your letter awakens many Wesleyan memories and recollections.

Project '73 To Begin January 3

Project '73, Wesleyan's third January term, begins on the third day of the new year.

This term offers the student four options: on-campus projects (innovative and designed especially for the month) and catalogue courses; overseas projects sponsored by Wesleyan faculty; self-generated projects; courses on the campuses of other institutions having an interim semester of one month. Students from other institutions are invited to enroll for the month. Community residents may also register Jan. 3 to take a project; cost is $75 (Contact Dean Oscar C. Page).

An accepted and dynamic part of the Wesleyan way of life, the interim term offers central presentations open to the public.

Interesting films will be shown during the month, beginning with an experimental group on Jan. 3. Headline speakers include the Hon. Shirley Chisholm, first US black Congresswoman and specialist in early childhood education (Jan. 4, 8 p.m.); Evelyn Monohan, clairvoyant teacher of college courses in parapsychology; Bill Laite on "Prison Reform" (Jan. 18); James Townsend, editor and publisher of GEORGIA MAGAZINE; Lester G. Maddox, former governor and now lieutenant-governor of Georgia, on his "Society of Liberty" philosophy; a panel on Law and Order; also representatives from the bi-racial, religious Koinonia Farms.

Music will include Charles Edward Eikner in a piano concert, and a Southern folk cultural revival project. In drama, Boston's ATMA Theatre Company will present Edward Albee's "Zoo Story" Jan. 10-11, and student directed plays will be performed Jan. 24-27; auditions are to be held for students interested in productions at "Six Flags".

UGa will send demonstrations on Educational TV and a mobile lab to demonstrate the study of prehistory.

Off-campus projects include an intern program in State Government, a cultural tour of Greece and France, and a look at recreational facilities, (skiing and other winter sports) in Switzerland, Austria, and Germany.

On-campus courses offer a wide variety, including Building a Harpsichord, Looking at Scientific Issues in the Bible, New Religious Movements in Japan, Birds in Georgia, Use of Multi-Media in Education, Afro-American Culture, Historical Development of Mathematical Ideas, the Libretto, Drawing and Composition, and others.

Arch F. Beckelheimer is Director.

Formerly I was in touch with a number of my classmates, but unfortunately have had no word from them now for years."

She asked for news of Katharine Carnes, Leo Baker, Susie K. Kroner, and Miss Margie Burks, of Lois Atkinson, whom she had met in Japan, and Celeste Dunbar, whose books she requested. She wanted to be kept informed of your alumnae editor's travel plans, adding, "This step you are taking is important in strengthening people-to-people contact and friendship between the American and Chinese people."

If you move and/or change your name, please let the Alumnae Office know. Thank you!

TAKE A TOUR?

The 1973 Alumnae Tour of Europe will be a "mountain-top experience", two weeks, beginning June 14, covering five countries — Portugal, Switzerland, Germany, Austria, and Italy. Address inquiries to Alumnae Office.

News of Wesleyan

Harliee Branch, Jr., Atlanta lawyer and retired president-chairman of the board of the Southern Company, is to be the speaker at Alumnae weekend, May 4-5. Besides innumerable other honors and distinctions, Mr. Branch has been presented two George Washington Honor Medals by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge for speeches he delivered. Past chairman of the Board of the Southern Company, Mr. Branch serves as director of US Steel, General Motors, and other organizations. Plan to come!

A group connected with Yale Divinity School, working on a "China Records" project, is collecting books, letters, diaries, etc. from Chinese missionaries. Mary Culler White, '91, distinguished Methodist missionary, requests that anyone owning copies of her books send them to her address: 29 Spears Ave., Asheville, N. C., 28801.

A distillation unit, to be used in the Chemistry Department to break down petroleum and other liquids into their component parts, has been given to the College by Plantation Pipeline Co., of Bremen, Ga. Thomas L. Martin, senior chemist with the company, made the presentation to Dean Oscar C. Page.

Miss Sylvia Ross was awarded the Doctor of Musical Arts degree at the U of Illinois in October.

Christmas decorations, carols, and parties have made the season gay at Wesleyan. President and Mrs. Strickland held Open House at their home, Bradley Hall, on Sunday, Dec. 3.

The memorial endowment fund for Prof. Joseph Maerz has now reached $7,010. The Fund was created last year by a group of friends and former students of Professor Maerz. At such time as the fund reaches $10,000, the income will be used each year to provide financial assistance to a worthy music student.

Many donors indicated a desire to make an annual gift to the Fund. All such gifts, of course, are tax deductible and will be credited toward Phase II Capital Gifts Campaign.

Wesleyan has become associated with the Association of Colleges and Universities for International-Cultural Studies, Inc. This will provide an opportunity for faculty and students to participate in numerous travel-study seminars at low cost. This past summer Dean Oscar Page studied in Yugoslavia.

Dr. Harry Gilmer, Religion, participated in a seminar on Internationalization of the Humanities at the ACUIIS Regional Conference at Wofford College in November. Miss Beverly Mitchell took part in the seminar on Internationalization of Teacher Education. President Strickland served as a model builder for a seminar on Recruitment and Admissions at the Wofford meet.

Highlight of the Second Sunday at Wesleyan concert series at Porter Auditorium was a traditional Christmas program given by the Wesleyan Glee Club and Wesleyannes on Dec. 10. Dr. Leon Jacques Villard, chairman of the Department of Music, directed. Featuring music faculty, the series was launched in September.

Boisfeuillet ("Bo") Jones, son of Alumna Claire Boifeullet, '04 (Mrs. F. R. Jones) was the subject of an inspirational article in the August ATLANTA MAGAZINE. An honor graduate of Emory, Mr. Jones is board chairman of Economic Opportunity Atlanta (EOA), also head of the Woodruff Foundation, whose anonymous grants have bolstered major philanthropical causes. Mr. Jones, headlined in the article as "planner, dreamer, innovator, doer", was born in Macon, came to Atlanta from Washington, where he served under President Kennedy as Assistant to the Secretary of HEW, and among other things, helped shape the Educational Assistance Act, also the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Act of 1962. In 1952 he blue-printed a reorganization for Emory's medical school and health services.

A series of Family Life Education programs began Nov. 14 with a discussion on Human Sexuality by Dr. R. J. Walker of the Bibb County Health Department. The series has been set up with the help of the Health Department.
